Dear Mark,

We can't wait for September here at the Corsair and Cross Rip! Now, we're not trying to rush the end of summer or anything, but we love the post-Labor day month and all it brings to Cape Cod and the islands. With ample warm-weather days, many of which are beach quality, and some of the best sunsets you'll see all year round, September is a hidden gem of a month for those of us lucky enough to be here. Mornings may be sweatshirt weather, but by midday you could be fooled into thinking you were in the middle of a high season day, weather wise. It's also the month when us locals come out to play, with a multitude of festivals celebrating everything from scallops to beer and beyond.

Check out what the Cape, and the Corsair and Cross Rip, have in store for September!

Forward to a Friend!

September is Time to Celebrate!

Think Cape Cod starts to hibernate after Labor Day? Think again! September has become the festival month here on Cape Cod, with events celebrating a wide range of local or regional items. The month kicks off with the Great Provincetown Schooner Regatta, a race of historic sailing craft and yachts that stretches from Gloucester down to Cape Cod. The week is celebrated in P-Town with sailing, educational events and the rare site of sails rising high above the town. You can even reserve a seat on one of the schooners as they sail down from Gloucester! The event runs September 7-11.

If you're making a week out of it, continue the fun with the Eastham Windmill Weekend Festival from September 11-13! Enter a sandcastle building contest, shop the arts and crafts festival or simply tour the windmills and head downtown for dinner. This low-key event is one of our favorites, not to be missed!

One of the region's larger events is the Harwich Cranberry Arts and Music Festival, which runs September 19-20. It's spread all over Harwich, with cranberries highlighted in food throughout the festival, artists and crafters hawking their wares and one of the regions larger music festivals. The best part? The event, and the parking, is all free! Other events, such as the Scallop Festival, Cape Cod Brew Fest, Truro Treasures Weekend and the Tennessee Williams Theatre Festival are popular with locals and visitors alike, and all well worth a visit.
